

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a controlled release pharmaceutical composition, suitable for once daily administration, of erythromycin or a derivative thereof and the process for its preparation. More preferably, it relates to a controlled release pharmaceutical composition of clarithromycin suitable for once daily administration.